This semester we will examine the historical and contemporary geographies of cities. We will examine urban form, urban functions, and social geographies of developed and developing cities. We will spend several weeks looking at housing and how that has affected geographies of segregation and formation of immigrant communities. Each week, in addition to lecture content and occasional supplemental documentaries, you will read a book chapter and possibly additional posted readings, participate in discussions, and write critical essays in response to key themes for that week. Additionally, there will be a midterm and non-cumulative final.

Instructor: Rose Moulton
Office: Hunter North 1032
Office Hours: On Zoom via appointment or in person in HN1032 on Thursdays from 2:30-5 pm

Preferred Gender Pronoun

All people have the right to be addressed and referred to in accordance with their personal identity. In this class, we will have the chance to indicate the name that we prefer to be called and, if we choose, to identify pronouns with which we would like to be addressed. I will do my best to address and refer to all students accordingly and support classmates in doing so as well.

Syllabus Change Policy

- Except for changes that substantially affect implementation of the evaluation (grading) statement, this syllabus is a guide for the course and is subject to change with advance notice.
- If changes are made to the syllabus, I will notify you via email through Blackboard. It is essential that you have your correct email linked to your Blackboard account and that you check your Hunter or other Blackboard-linked email regularly. Bounced emails will not be an acceptable excuse for not being aware of changes or any other communications to the class.
